Van Allen, Cleveland's Fat Contributor, Resigns His Office.

GIVES UP THE ITALIAN MISSION

He Admits the Charge, But Pleads He Had Interests at Stake—Cleveland's Apologetic Acceptance.

New York, Dec. 3.—The following correspondence which is self explanatory was given out for publication to-day.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 20, 1893.—THE HON. WALTER C. GREEN, SECRETARY OF STATE, SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 28th of October in which you officially notify me that the president by and with the advice and consent of the senate has appointed me ambassador to Italy.

Since the receipt of your letter, I have given the matter my most serious and careful attention and as the result of my reflections, have concluded to ask you to express to the president my decision not to accept the office tendered to me. I must beg that you will not infer from my part of the honor conferred on me, or the contrary, I fully comprehend the dignity, importance and responsibility of the position, and, having this realization, I may frankly add that the nomination was extremely gratifying to me—not in a personal sense merely, but more particularly because of the opportunity afforded me of representing my country in such a manner as I hoped might be satisfactory to the American people and creditable to the administration.

Charged With Buying the Office. Among the comments upon my nomination which appeared in the public press, one charge only merits attention; not because it was true, but because it was and I suppose still is believed by many persons unacquainted with the details of the matter and the facts essential to a formation of an accurate judgment. The charge was that I received the appointment in return for a contribution of $50,000 to the democratic national campaign fund. While my nomination was pending in the senate, I did not seem fitting and proper for me to offer more than an explicit denial. I was aware that, as an interested party, my statement would have little effect beyond the limits of my personal acquaintance. Now, however, when my nomination cannot be fairly attributed to purely selfish motives, it seems to me that a repetition of that denial, which I make without qualification, should be sufficient for any honorable man.

Furnished Campaign Funds.

I have never denied and do not now deny that I contributed to the campaign fund—not $50,000, but yet a considerable sum of money. Sincerely believing as I did that a continuation of republican supremacy would not be only a hindrance to national progress, but in time a positive menace to the success of popular government, and having large interests at stake, I was impelled by patriotic duty to contribute to the democratic cause. I did not do so until I had made myself familiar with the methods of the campaign as conducted by the national democratic committee. I visited the democratic headquarters and was astonished to find work being done. An expenditure vast in proportions was being made to bring home to the American people the truths upon which I believed the welfare of the country demanded. Hundreds of speakers too poor to pay their own expenses were being sent to do patriotic duty, the national committee had a vast amount of literature distributed free to awaken the public mind upon the questions pending in the campaign. The democratic party had no favored interests to assess and was obliged to rely upon the aid of every financial assistance. Hence my contribution.

He Had Contributed Before.

It was by no means the first time I had assisted the party since Mr. Cleveland's aggressive leadership aroused my admiration and I do not say that if I shall again deem it to be my duty as a citizen to assist the government it will not be the last time. I am, at this time, fully aware that the contribution meant for me to me than the time and effort devoted by thousands of unselfish citizens to the same campaign. Nor did I believe that it should be held against me as a stain on my record. On the contrary, I have not only admitted but have positively insisted at all times that it created no obligation to me whatever and I feel confident that the president, who in fact was kind enough to say to me that I should be free to do as I pleased, has given him and been relieved.

Defiance Held for Trial.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 3.—Stonewall J. DeFrance is still in jail, and will probably stay there until December 11, the day set for his appearance in the circuit court, he having been held for trial and his bail fixed at $15,000.

Relief for Miners.

Hudson, Mich., Dec. 3.—Hudson is doing her share in assisting the upper peninsula sufferers. Several boxes of clothing and provisions have been donated, and quite a sum of money raised.

Had Her House Burned.

Masonville, Mich., Dec. 3.—The house of Mrs. Cora McCabe, the alleged house thief, now in jail awaiting trial, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $1,200; fully insured.

Michigan Postmasters.

Byron, A. Hicks, Pomeroy, Joseph C. Gay, Stephens, Martin Moran, Barker, C. B. Jackson, Increase, John Bradley, Amy, Reissner, Chester Barter, Webberville, Jonathan A. Sprague, Kalamazoo, William Ezra Griffith, Pottsville, John Stey, deceased, West Bay City, George J. Corwin, Breckenridge, Remond, and Increase, Anson, Dodge, Earl Hagman, Original, widows, etc., Mary Jarvis, East City, Isabella Steffy, West Bay City.

Has Confidence in Jim.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3.—Mrs. J. J. Corbett, wife of the champion wrestler, Jacksonville today. When interviewed relative to the coming fight between her husband and Mitchell, she said: "As my relations with my husband are purely domestic, I don't know much about prize fighting. Pugilism is Jim's business and he knows more about it than I do. I can tell you, Jim is going to win Mitchell if they ever meet."

Rejects His Purchase.

But, whatever may be the correct conclusion regarding the ethics of the case, the fact remains that a large number of my fellow citizens have been led either by coincidence of circumstances or by false report to look upon my appointment as in some way inconsistent with the professions of the democratic party and the president's high ideas of public service. By these critics generally my fitness for the position has been generally questioned, but the fact of my contribution to the campaign fund has been considered as making it improper for me to accept the appointment. I do not think that I could now remove this impression from the minds of many right-minded and thoughtful people whose judgment I frankly admit may possibly be correct. At all events I find myself in a false position with reference to this office and appointment. Acceptance of the office would make me appear willing for the sake of personal distinction to discredit in the minds of many the political party in which I am attached, and to bring discredit upon the administration which has honored me and whose success I earnestly desire.

It Therefore seems to me unadvisable to accept the office. I therefore decline it. I have the honor, sir, your obedient servant, J. J. VAN ALLEN.

WHAT HE WILL SAY

Cleveland's Message to Congress Today Will Discuss

TARIFF, HAWAII AND FINANCE

Federal Elections Bill to Come Up in the Senate—Some of the House Measures.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The fifty third congress will assemble in regular session tomorrow at 12 o'clock. The day's session will be comparatively brief. The president's message will be read. The death of Representative O'Neill and Lally of Pennsylvania will be announced and then adjournment. There will be no delay in proceeding with the regular order of business, as the organization of both branches was effected at the special session which met in August. Committees to notify the president that congress is ready to receive any message he may have to communicate will be appointed at once and thereafter the annual message of the president may be read to the two houses. This message is expected to be of unusual length, and will be interesting on account of some radical features. One part of it will be devoted to the subject of the Hawaiian question, and it is expected that it will contain recommendations for legislation affecting national banks. The advocates of the repeal of the state bank tax expect the favorable consideration of that question in the message. The Hawaiian question may be made the subject of a special message, but the extreme length of this message seems to indicate that this question has been included.

Federal Elections Bill. The session which begins tomorrow will be one of the most active that has been held for many years. The two questions before the senate, standing in the order named, are the proposition to repeal the national bank circulation act and the house bill repealing the federal elections laws. It is expected that the latter will be first taken up, unless it is made evident that the taking up of this bill will block other legislation indefinitely. Its consideration may, as a matter of policy, be delayed, but democrats admit of no doubt of its early passage. Mr. Hill announced at the adjournment of the special session, that immediately upon the resumption of congress, he would endeavor to have the rules of the senate changed so as to provide for the previous question in some sort. He is still in the same frame of mind and will make every effort to secure the change of rules at once.

Appropriations to Be Cut.

The appropriations committee of the house has been at work and will have one or two bills ready to report during the first week. Nearly every appropriation bill reported from the committee will show a very heavy cut and there may be considerable fighting over these bills when they get into the house. Mr. Springer expects to be able to report a general financial bill, which has been under consideration for some time. A number of bills to repeal the state bank tax will also be reported early from his committee. The bankruptcy bill and the naturalization bill will be under consideration by the house when the extra session closes. The committee will report the regular order, the bankruptcy bill coming first. Advocates of that bill now expect that the bill will pass the house before the tariff discussion comes up. This, however, is by no means certain, as a very hard fight is going to be made over the tariff bill. A number of bills, which come next in order, will probably be crowded out by the tariff and go over until the Wilson bill has passed the house. The purpose of the ways and means committee is said to be to rush the Wilson bill through the house as quickly as possible. The tariff measure is taken up, however, there may be something done to protect the interests of the United States in the Pacific railroad which have gone into the hands of a receiver.

Hawaii and Pension Troubles.

Naturally, the Hawaiian question is going to be a matter of very great interest in both houses of congress, but it is not settled whether or how it will come up for consideration. The question will probably be taken up by the committee on foreign relations in the senate almost immediately, and the committee on foreign affairs in the house will take it under consideration also. If they can get hold of it in any way, a number of resolutions of inquiry, and some of another character, relating to this subject, will be offered in both houses. The pension question is expected, sooner or later, to cause a long discussion in the senate and considerable trouble in the house. The question is anticipated. The principal things which the democratic managers in congress are desirous to do as speedily as possible are to pass the tariff bill, to provide an income tax of some sort, to repeal the state bank tax, and to secure some general financial measure to enlarge the currency.

WILL ISSUE THE BONDS.

Secretary Carlisle Sped to Have Changed His Opinion. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—There is no reasonable doubt that the administration has decided that the only practical way to secure the immediate revenue which is imperatively demanded is through an issue of bonds. The secretary of the treasury has privately formed some of his more confidential friends that he has arrived at that conclusion. And Mr. Carlisle does not now arrive at conclusions without knowing in advance how they will be received at the White House. In fact, the commissioners are much more likely to be suggested from the White House than from the treasury. It is a fact that last spring, when the advance indications of the financial panic were first seen, Mr. Carlisle said that no bonds should be issued while he was secretary of the treasury. But, during the short time that he has been in the cabinet, Mr. Carlisle has said many contradictory things. The readiness with which he adapts himself to shifting conditions is perhaps the most striking characteristic of the secretary of the treasury. That he has been twice in office now to think as Mr. Cleveland thinks. If Mr. Carlisle thinks that a bond issue can solve the supply the

READY FOR A REVOLT

General Uprising in Six of the Mexican States.

MAY OCCUR AT ANY MOMENT

An Uneasy Feeling pervades the Mexican Republic and Battles With Revolutionists Frequent.

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 3.—Governor Ahumada arrived in Juarez from Chihuahua. A very near friend says that he will look into the border troubles and report to President Diaz. Private letters from American citizens in two Mexican states, evince a very uneasy feeling in the republic and the revolutionist information is to the effect that in at least six states there will be a general uprising within a few weeks. The reason for Governor Ahumada's coming to Juarez begins to manifest itself. A message has just been received from Juarez saying that the governor of Chihuahua, by authority from President Diaz, has forbidden the circulation of the El Paso Daily Times on that side of the river. He has also forbidden any merchant doing business in Mexico having an advertisement in the Times. The message comes from a merchant on whom the notice has been served and it is considered reliable, but as the official notice has not been received, the circulation of the Times, it will be a Mexican subscribers tomorrow as usual.

Federal Cavalrymen Shot.

Americans who arrived here this morning over the Mexican Central railroad from Chihuahua report that last Friday morning twelve or fourteen wounded federal cavalry and infantry officers were brought into that city in wagons, and taken to the city hospital. Two of the officers died before night but absolutely no information regarding the vicinity or result of the engagement could be obtained. Even the most prominent citizens of the city knew nothing regarding the engagement. The opinion prevails that the troops at Casas Grande advanced on the rebels, who have been concentrating their forces in the mountains forty miles to the west of that place, and were defeated by the rebels, who then fled to the south. Further information will probably be received within the next week.

ROBBED ALL WHO CAME.

Three Bandits Who Did a Land Office Business. CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA, Dec. 3.—About 7 o'clock last evening three men entered the Chicago & Northwestern depot at Luzerne, a little town thirty miles west of here, and at the points of revolvers commanded a Thompson, the agent, to deliver what money he had. He quickly gave up the express and railroad money, when the bandits opened the door to the freight room and pushed him in, telling him that if he attempted to escape he would be shot. In a few minutes the night operator came down and the robbers went through his pockets and pushed him also into the freight room. After a few minutes more of waiting the conductor of a special train went into the depot and the robbers hardly time to dispose of him before he walked the train crew. "Hold up your hands," shouted the largest of the highwaymen and his confederates quickly went through the pockets of the boys and relieved them of their money. The boys were sent to join the gang in the freight room. A stranger went into the station and was about to ask for a ticket to Chicago. He joined his fellow unfortunates and the outside door opened to allow the postmaster to enter. He was treated as had been the others. Train No. 8 had arrived at Belle Plaine, the next town west, and was waiting to hear from Luzerne before proceeding. No amount of calling could get an answer from there, and after waiting half an hour the conductor, Ward, took one of the operators from the office at Belle Plaine and started for Luzerne. When his train pulled into the depot Conductor Ward jumped out of his train and started for the depot. As he did so, three men came out of the depot and passed him. He ran into the building and called out and wanted to know what was the matter. An answer came from the freight room and opening the door he saw the men all huddled up in a corner. Then followed a short recital of the events of the previous few hours, and the conductor, remembering the men he had passed, hastily returned to his train. Jumping on to the steps of the smoking car, he opened the door and shouted: "I think the train is going to be held up." Every man who possessed revolvers awaited the threatened attack but it never came.

To Besiege Rio.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Herald's special correspondent in Rio Grande du Sul telegraphs that the leader of the federal forces in that state, Gen. Guzmindo Saravia, with 2,000 well armed men is preparing to take the railway station fighting on land to Rio Janeiro.

Influenza Is Epidemic.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—The influenza epidemic in Kiel is spreading rapidly. Three hundred marines are under treatment. Bulgarian Ministers Have Resigned. BELGRADE, Dec. 3.—The king has accepted the resignations of his ministers.

Corbett Starts for Florida.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Corbett party left Jacksonville at midnight for the Danville route limited for the south. Corbett will show at different places on the way down to Florida. He will train in the neighborhood of Jacksonville, no matter whether he is allowed to fight Mitchell or not. He accepted his train fare in good faith, and it is his intention to take the officers of the club that he, at least, means business and will train right among them until the time arrives for the fight to take place.

Pail Mail Gazette Sued.

Montreal, Ala., Dec. 3.—The Mobile & Dauphin Island railroad, an organization incorporated under the laws of the state of Alabama, has sued The Pail Mail Gazette of London, England, for the enormous sum of $40,000. The suit is the result of certain libelous statements contained in the Gazette and reflecting on the stability and honesty of persons interested in building the road.

LET THE LAW ALONE

Eckels Opposes Changing the National Banking System.

MANY NEED AMENDMENTS

Bank Suspension Discussed and Their Management Criticized—Expansion Currency Not Urged.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The annual report of James H. Eckels, comptroller of the currency, shows a total national bank to have been in operation at the close of the report year, with a capital stock of $200,000,000, represented by 7,450,000 shares, held by 300,000 shareholders. At the last report of condition the total resources of the banks then in operation was $1,000,000,000. The total amount of circulation was, on October 31, $200,311,883, a net increase during the year of $3,888,972. During the year 119 banks were organized in thirty-two states and territories, with a capital stock of $11,290,000. Within the same period 158 banks suspended, with a total stock of $30,300,000. Of this number, eighty-six, with a capital stock of $15,250,000, resumed, and sixty-five passed into the hands of receivers, with a capital stock of $10,050,000. At the close of the year seven remained in the charge of examiners pending resumption. The aggregate resources or liabilities on October 31, 1893, the date of the last report of condition, compared with those of September 30, 1892, were $100,331,613 less.

Resumption of National Banks.

Upon the question of resumption of national banks during the year the comptroller says: "With a full knowledge of the general condition of these institutions and the cause which brought about their suspension, the policy of resumption is, in my opinion, the only one which is justified. It is believed the results have justified the experiment of its adoption. In no instance has a bank been permitted to resume on money borrowed or for which an association it has become liable. Where the bank has resumed, either by voluntary or enforced resumption, the management has been honest and whose management had been honest, an opportunity to resume business.
